The University Mace

Symbols of authority and power, maces were originally hand weapons designed for use against armor. Topped by the flame of knowledge, the University Mace has the University Seal as a focal point and unifying element. Tassels of maroon and white hang from the shaft of fourteen rods of black walnut, symbolizing the fourteen counties of the Commonwealth, held together by a gold band, which symbolizes their unity.

The head of the Mace is gold plate over highly polished brass. Complex curves radiating from the hub in which the Seal is centered reflect light in constantly changing patterns, symbolic of the many-faceted environment of the University life.

The Mace is borne by the Faculty Co-Chairperson of the University Assembly.

Academic Costume and Regalia

Modern academic regalia retain some of the symbols of the earlier forms of ceremonial dress. The gown tends to be fullest, longest, and heaviest for the doctoral degree. The sleeves for the bachelor's and master's gowns are typically open at the wrist. Cuffs are more common on the doctoral gown, and the sleeves are adorned by three velvet stripes, symbolic of the degree. The mantle worn about the shoulders, called the hood, is the remnant of functional head gear worn for warmth in the unheated classrooms of medieval universities. Today its colors refer to the school that granted the degree and the discipline or level of the degree (e.g., navy blue for Ph.D., pink for music, etc.).

Academic regalia represent traditions which come down from the Middle Ages, when European universities were institutions of the church. At that time, robes were a common form of dress, particularly for officials of church and state. The cut of the robe, its adornment, and the colors used comprised a specialized heraldry that conveyed the rank and station of the wearer. At the universities, both faculty and students were considered to be part of the church hierarchy and were expected to wear the prescribed gowns. As society moved toward more modern forms of dress, only royalty, clergy and academics retained the traditional regalia and then only reserving it for ceremonial use.

The usual color for academic gowns in the United States is black. However, almost three dozen universities in this country and many others in Europe have adopted more colorful robes. In general, this practice has been limited to schools more than one hundred years old. Among the colorful robes represented at this commencement are ones from Boston College, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Duke, Harvard, New York, Princeton, Rutgers, Tufts and Yale universities, and Universities of California, Kansas and Rhode Island.

Banners designed by Josh Prokop.

This program is for ceremonial purposes only. The official list of graduates is maintained by the University Registrar.

Honorary Degree Recipients

RUTH GORDON, Doctor of Fine Arts

Born in Wollaston and loyal alumnae of Quincy High School, Miss Ruth Gordon has entertained the World. First appearing as an actress in "Peter Pan", she has interpreted leading roles in modern hits and timeless classics. Wycherley's Mrs. Pinchwife, Ibsen's Nora, Chekhov's Natasha, Wilder's Dolly, she has brought vivacity and feeling onto the stage, and then onto the screen and television. As well as an interpreter of the works of others, she is herself a distinguished playwright and author. Through seven decades, Ruth Gordon has entertained and enriched our lives. Ruth Gordon, we once again applaud you.

FRANK J. MANNING, Doctor of Laws

A public servant throughout his career, Frank J. Manning now is the principal speaker for older citizens in Massachusetts. His training in social science and religion reflects his desire to serve other people. His work in the labor movement and in the United Services Organization illustrates his commitment to the underprivileged, the under-represented. That commitment has focused for the past decades on improving the lives of older Americans. In private and public forums, he has become their spokesman. And in this wide and busy role, he has inspired and instructed many citizens, among whom are students at the University of Massachusetts at Boston and other colleges. Committed to the public good and to the rights of all, Frank J. Manning is living the life of service.

CYRIL STANLEY SMITH, Doctor of Science

Cyril Stanley Smith is a native of Birmingham, England, reknowned for the production of metal works of every sort, from brass buttons to intricate pieces of jewelry and machinery. His contributions to the history of technology reflect a similar pattern of diversity. He has a vast experience in business and government and is at the same time a keen observer of the role of metal in the aesthetic and decorative life of humankind from the earliest civilization to the present day. He has served the nation of which he has become a citizen at the highest levels of governmental research and has significantly extended the range of historical studies in the use of metals. His achievements in the practical world of government and business and in the world of art are internationally recognized. We are pleased to have him with us.

EDUOARD A. STACKPOLE, Doctor of Humane Letters

A native of Nantucket Island and graduate of Roxbury Latin School, Eduoard A. Stackpole has an international reputation as an historian. His career includes distinguished service as a printer, writer, editor, curator, historian, and novelist for which he has been honored by Yale University, the Guggenheim Foundation, and the Royal Society of Arts of London, England. Words and the sea have dominated Eduoard Stackpole's life. For forty-five years he participated in the Nantucket Enquirer and Mirror, finally as its Editor-in-Chief; for fifteen years he was curator for the Mystic Seaport Maritime Historical Association. And his numerous books are salty in style and subject; The Sea Hunter, Nantucket Revel, Whales and Destiny, Nantucket Life-Saving. Eduoard Stackpole is a special friend of the University of Massachusetts at Boston. He has encouraged, advised, and lectured to our students in our Program in Nantucket, one of our several campuses. His art as storyteller and his good humor, sensitivity, and knowledge have enriched the lives of many. We are grateful that some of our students are among those.

BENJAMIN THOMPSON, Doctor of Fine Arts

An important modern architect and then a leader in historic restoration, Benjamin Thompson unites apparent contradictions. As a principal participant in the founding of Architects Collaborative and Design Research and as an independent architect, he influenced American taste in its acceptance of the international style. As chairman of the Department of Architecture at Harvard, he directly affected the training of a significant number of our younger vital architects. For the past decade he has pioneered architectural restoration work which climaxed for us with Fanueil Hall and Quincy Market's rebirth. Benjamin Thompson has left his personal stamp on Boston. His uniting of avant-garde design and historical preservation does not result in paradox because his vision has, from the beginning, been grounded in the appreciation of the actual.
