The University Mace

Symbols of authority and power, maces were originally hand weapons designed for use against armor. Topped by the flame of knowledge, the University Mace has the University Seal as a focal point and unifying element. Tassels of maroon and white hang from the shaft of fourteen rods of black walnut, symbolizing the fourteen counties of the Commonwealth, held together by a gold band, which symbolizes their unity.

The Head of the Mace is gold plate over highly polished brass. Complex curves radiating from the hub in which the Seal is centered reflect light in constantly changing patterns, symbolic of the many-faceted environment of the University life.

The Mace is borne by the Faculty Co-Chairperson of the University Assembly.

Academic Costume and Regalia

Academic regalia represent traditions which come down from the Middle Ages, when European universities were institutions of the church. At that time, robes were a common form of dress, particularly for officials of church and state. The cut of the robe, its adornment, and the colors used comprised a specialized heraldry that conveyed the rank and station of the wearer. At the universities, both faculty and students were considered to be part of the church hierarchy and were expected to wear the prescribed gowns. As society moved toward more modern forms of dress, only royalty, clergy and academics retained the traditional regalia and then only reserving it for ceremonial use.

Modern academic regalia retains some of the symbols of the earlier forms of ceremonial dress. The gown tends to be fullest, longest, and heaviest for the doctoral degree. The sleeves for the bachelor’s and master’s gowns are typically open at the wrist. Cuffs are more common on the doctoral gown, and the sleeves are adorned by three velvet stripes, symbolic of the degree. The mantle worn about the shoulders, called the hood, is the remnant of functional headgear worn for warmth in the unheated classrooms of medieval universities. Today its colors refer to the school that granted the degree or the discipline or level of the degree (e.g., navy blue for Ph.D., pink for music, etc.).

The usual color for academic gowns in the United States is black. However, almost three dozen universities in this country and many others in Europe have adopted more colorful robes. In general, this practice has been limited to schools more than one hundred years old. Among the colorful robes represented at this commencement are ones from Boston College, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Duke, Harvard, New York, Princeton, Rutgers, Stanford, Tufts and Yale universities, and the Universities of California, Kansas and Rhode Island.

This program is for ceremonial purposes only. The official list of graduates is maintained by the University Registrar.

Guests are asked to remain seated during the ceremony and until the academic procession has departed.
As clergyman, counselor, mediator and visionary, Bishop Edward G. Carroll has been guided by the principles of justice and equity. During difficult times he has nurtured strength of spirit, and with humility and tolerance has fostered harmony among all peoples. An activist with peace of soul, Bishop Carroll has touched many lives, always speaking the truth quietly and clearly, striking out against injustice and squarely facing the challenges of time. In his roles as pastor, educator, community leader and bishop, he has achieved great heights. Bishop Carroll has been lauded by his peers and recognized by many for his accomplishments. His presence in our community has inspired each of us to renew our commitment to the ideals of brotherhood.

Bishop Carroll is a catalyst, an initiator who sets in motion the ripples, building a current that can sweep down the mightiest walls of oppression and resistance.

At another commencement in Dorchester many years ago, a young and pretty girl walked with her classmates across the stage to receive her diploma at Dorchester High School. The Mayor of Boston, John Francis Fitzgerald, distributed the diplomas. When his daughter Rose Elizabeth stepped forward, the presenter was aglow with admiration. He was happy to mark this early milestone in the life of a woman who would, through the years, achieve exemplary stature both as the guiding spirit of a great American family and as a citizen actively committed to the welfare of all. She is marked in history as a valiant lady and gallant mother for whom humane pursuits have always been important. America’s handicapped children owe her a special debt, not least for her part in the work of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation. She has a niche in the memories of all who have watched her progress through the trials and triumphs of the twentieth century. Her family — and the family of man — have been her life. And what a life it has been. We at the University of Massachusetts at Boston warmly embrace Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy as one of ours.
While a sergeant in paratroops during the Second World War, Harold Russell lost both his lower arms during a training accident. His autobiography, Victory in My Hands, is a gripping narrative of his bravery and anguish during the long period of physical and psychological rehabilitation. A Boston native, who is the founder and president of a widely-respected firm of consultants in all aspects of physical handicaps, Mr. Russell was also elected national commander of AMVETS for three consecutive years. The University, proud that its own academic programs and facilities offer complete access to the handicapped, awards this honorary degree to a man who has demonstrated the highest standards of personal sacrifice and professional dedication. We are not alone in this recognition: since 1964, Harold Russell has served with distinction as national chairman of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. Moreover, the maroon and white of this hood will take on added luster as it rests beside the burnished gold of the two Academy Awards given to Mr. Russell for his memorable performance in the film The Best Years of Our Lives.

For half a century, Frederick S. ("Barney") Troy has served the University of Massachusetts as a student and teacher at our parent campus at Amherst and as a member of the Board of Trustees. Scores of students over several generations have recognized in him those rare gifts of grace that have made him one of the truly great teachers of our time. As a scholar of eighteenth century English literature, he has written essays on Pope, Johnson and Burke that have brought the moral imagination and sturdy wisdom of the eighteenth century to bear on the perplexities of the present. As University Trustee for the past decade and a half, he has been an eloquent advocate of the University within the Commonwealth, and has labored with steady courage to keep the University true to its responsibility to be above all an instrument of humane learning. His good counsel has been indispensable to the development of the Boston campus. The University has already recognized his service by conferring upon him its unique Honorary Professorship and more recently by establishing the Frederick S. Troy medal, an award for distinguished alumni. In doing further honor today to this man of civility and wisdom, who would, like Jefferson, create a republic of reason, we do honor to ourselves.
