The University Mace

Symbols of authority and power, maces were originally hand weapons designed for use against armor. Topped by the flame of knowledge, the University Mace has the University Seal as a focal point and unifying element. Tassels of maroon and white hang from the shaft of fourteen rods of black walnut, symbolizing the fourteen counties of the Commonwealth, held together by a gold band, which symbolizes their unity.

The Head of the Mace is gold plate over highly polished brass. Complex curves radiating from the hub in which the Seal is centered reflect light in constantly changing patterns, symbolic of the many-faceted environment of the University life.

Academic Costume and Regalia

Academic regalia represent traditions which come down from the Middle Ages, when European universities were institutions of the church. At that time, robes were a common form of dress, particularly for officials of church and state. The cut of the robe, its adornment, and the colors used comprised a specialized heraldry that conveyed the rank and station of the wearer. At the universities, both faculty and students were considered to be part of the church hierarchy and were expected to wear the prescribed gowns. As society moved toward more modern forms of dress, only royalty, clergy and academics retained the traditional regalia and then only reserving it for ceremonial use.

Modern academic regalia retains some of the symbols of the earlier forms of ceremonial dress. The gown tends to be fullest, longest, and heaviest for the doctoral degree. The sleeves for the bachelor’s and master’s gowns are typically open at the wrist. Cuffs are more common on the doctoral gown, and the sleeves are adorned by three velvet stripes, symbolic of the degree. The mantle worn about the shoulders, called the hood, is the remnant of functional headgear worn for warmth in the unheated classrooms of medieval universities. Today its colors refer to the school that granted the degree and the discipline or level of the degree (e.g., navy blue for Ph.D., pink for music, etc.).

The usual color for academic gowns in the United States is black. However, almost three dozen universities in this country and many others in Europe have adopted more colorful robes. In general, this practice has been limited to schools more than one hundred years old. Among the schools represented by colorful robes at commencement ceremonies are Boston College, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Duke, Harvard, New York, Princeton, Rutgers, Stanford, Tufts and Yale universities, and the Universities of California, Kansas and Rhode Island.

This program is for ceremonial purposes only. The official list of graduates is maintained by the University Registrar.

The Rev. James K. Allen

The Reverend James K. Allen is pastor of the historic First Parish Church on Meeting House Hill in Dorchester. Widely known as one who responds to the needs not only of his own church but also of the entire community within which he lives and works, he is fittingly honored at the time of the twentieth anniversary of the University of Massachusetts at Boston.

His advocacy for the location of the urban campus of the University of Massachusetts within his own community of Dorchester reflected both his respect for the value of education and his concern for the educational and social well-being of his parishioners and of his broader community. His own career reflects these concerns. Armed with B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Idaho, he has served as a teacher, college dean, public school principal and superintendent. He entered upon a full-time ministry in the 1940's when he received his S.T.B. from the Boston University School of Theology.

Today we honor the Reverend James K. Allen for his long-time activism on behalf of the Dorchester community, for his ecumenism and for his advocacy of civility and humanity in the conduct of human life.

Ellen Swepson Jackson

The career of Ellen Swepson Jackson reflects her intense commitment to the causes of education and racial harmony. She has made many contributions in this area, among them founding and acting as Executive Director of Operation Exodus, the voluntary inner city busing program which – as forerunner to the current M.E.T.C.O. Program – initiated the transportation of urban students in the primary and secondary grades to less crowded suburban schools. She has served as National Executive Director of the Black Women's Community Development Foundation in Washington, D.C., worked with the Massachusetts State Department of Education and directed the Freedom House Institute on Schools and Education. She is currently Dean/Director of Affirmative Action at Northeastern University.

The University of Massachusetts at Boston shares Ellen Jackson's commitment to the educational advancement of urban students. It is in recognition and admiration of her distinguished service in this cause that we today present her with the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

Roderick M. MacDougall

Roderick M. MacDougall came to Boston in 1974 to join the New England Merchants’ National Bank as President. He remains with that institution today, under its new name, as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Bank of New England Corporation and Chairman of the Bank of New England, N.A.

As Trustee and Treasurer of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, as a member of the Corporation for both Massachusetts General Hospital and the Museum of Science, as Chairman and Director of the United Way of Massachusetts Bay, as Director of Jobs for Massachusetts, and through manifold other affiliations, Roderick MacDougall has made significant and diverse contributions to the cultural enrichment and civic well-being of the City and of the Commonwealth. As Director of the Massachusetts Business Roundtable, he is currently devoting great energy to the betterment of public school education in Boston through the establishment of cooperative linkages among the worlds of business and education.

In honoring Roderick MacDougall we honor one who has demonstrated exemplary and unstinting concern for the welfare of the citizens of this Commonwealth.
David S. Nelson

United States District Court Judge David S. Nelson has forged his career through belief in the value of learning and the conviction that education, combined with determined effort, will lead to personal and professional fulfillment.

An alumnus of Julia Ward Howe Elementary School and of Boston Latin School and Boston College, where he received Bachelor's and Law degrees, Judge Nelson left private law practice when he was appointed a Justice of the Massachusetts Superior Court. In 1979, he was appointed a Federal District Court Judge upon submission of his name to former President Jimmy Carter by Senator Edward M. Kennedy. Concurrently with his judgeship, he acts as an instructor of law at Harvard and Boston University Law Schools. Before his appointment to Superior Court, his contributions to civic and community service were legion, especially in the areas of youth service, human rights and quality of life in the City of Boston.

The University of Massachusetts at Boston today honors Judge David Nelson for his continuing commitment to social and educational equity for the children of Boston and for his many contributions to the causes of justice and harmony in the City and the Commonwealth.

Richard H. O'Connell

It was with Richard H. O'Connell at the helm as Executive Vice President and General Manager that the Boston Red Sox won American League pennants in 1967 and in 1975. A native of Winthrop, Richard O'Connell received Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Boston College before serving in the U.S. Navy in World War II. He joined the Red Sox in 1946 and stayed with them, building a highly successful farm system and steadily strengthening the home team, until owner Tom Yawkey's death. He now serves as an advisor to the Boston Celtics and as a consultant.

Less well known than his baseball career has been Richard O'Connell's involvement in the medical resources of the city. A trustee of the New England Baptist Hospital and of the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, he was instrumental in 1951 in having the Dana-Farber Jimmy Fund designated as the Boston Red Sox charity.

The University is pleased to honor Richard H. O'Connell for his signal contributions to the life of Boston and for his strong commitment to and activism for humane causes in the City.

James F. O'Leary

James F. O'Leary, a graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Boston in the class of 1970, has quickly established a record of successful management in service to the City of Boston. After receiving a degree from Suffolk University Law School, he served as general counsel to the State Executive Office of Transportation and Construction. In 1981, he was appointed General Manager of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority; reappointed in 1984 by Governor Michael Dukakis, he has provided stabilizing and forward-looking leadership to the M.B.T.A. in a time of fiscal constraints. In 1982 he was voted one of the Ten Outstanding Young Leaders in the community by the Greater Boston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In this year in which the University of Massachusetts at Boston is celebrating its twentieth anniversary, it is appropriate that we should award the highest University honor to one of our own early graduates. We are proud to so recognize James F. O'Leary today.
